ARTICLE 2: MEMBERSHIP

The membership of the Society shall be of following categories.

Life members

Associate members

Honorary members

Corporate members

Life Members

a) A person who holds a postgraduate degree in Endocrinology and pursued research or publications in the field of endocrinology or holds a research Doctorate degree in the basic or applied endocrinology and is engaged in teaching/research in the field of endocrinology shall be eligible to become life-members.

b) A person who holds a postgraduate degree in Medicine or any of the allied branches of Medicine and is in full time research/teaching practice in Endocrinology or its allied areas for at least three years after obtaining the postgraduate degree and has made significant scientific contributions publications in any of the areas as related to endocrinology shall be eligible to be enrolled as a life member of the Society.

Associate Member:

A person who holds a post graduate degree in basic life sciences areas as related to endocrinology or has a post graduate degree in medical sciences and is engaged in Scientific work in the field of endocrinology or has evened interest in endocrinology through his/her profession and/or scientific activities but is not otherwise eligible to be enrolled as a life member shall be admitted as an Associate member of the Society. The associate membership would be converted to life membership after 5 years of enrollment as Associate Member provide such the member has made scientific publication/research in the field of Endocrinology during the five-year period.

Honorary Member:

An eminent person who has made an outstanding contribution in the field of endocrinology (basic/clinical/applied) or its allied fields shall be admitted as an honorary member.